

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

CLEVELAND VICKERS,

Plaintiff,

v.

VALLEJO FURNITURE GALLERIES,
INC., et al.,

Defendants.

No. 2:20-cv-00068-JAM-AC

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

This matter is before the court on plaintiff's motion for default judgment. This motion was referred to the undersigned pursuant to E.D. Cal. R. 302(c)(19). The matter was set to be heard on the papers. ECF No. 12. Defendants did not file an opposition or take any actions in this case. For the reasons stated below, the court recommends that plaintiff's motion be granted.

I. Relevant Background

As stated in his complaint, plaintiff is a person with physical disabilities, including limited ability to walk; he requires the use of a wheelchair. ECF No. 1 at 2. Defendants Vallejo Furniture Galleries Inc. and WEC 97H-California Investment Trust are alleged to be real property owners of the building/parcel located at 700 Sereno Dr., Vallejo, California, 94589 ("the Property"). Id. at 1-2. Plaintiff asserts that the Property contains a business called Vallejo Furniture Galleries, Inc., which is a facility open to the public, a place of public accommodation

1 for nonresidential use, and a business establishment. Id. at 2. There is a parking lot on the 2 Property. Id.

3 Plaintiff lives approximately five miles from the Property, and visited the Property on or 4 about August 3, 2019 to shop for furniture. ECF No. 1 at 2. Plaintiff alleges he encountered 5 many accessibility problems. In particular, there was only one designated accessible parking stall 6 in the Property's parking lot, and it was located far away from the Property entrance even though 7 other, standard parking stalls were closer. It was difficult for plaintiff to make his way from the 8 designated accessible parking stall to the Property entrance due to the distance and excessive 9 slopes. Id. at 3. Plaintiff was, and continues to be, deterred from visiting the Property because of 10 his awareness that the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, and accommodations 11 were and are unavailable to him due to his physical disabilities. Id. Plaintiff enjoys the goods 12 and services offered at the Property, and will return to the Property once the barriers are removed.
13 Id.

14 On January 9, 2020, plaintiff filed this action alleging violations of the American's with 15 Disabilities Act, 42 U.S.C. § 12101, et seq., the Unruh Civil Rights Act, Cal. Civ. Code § 51-16 53, and violations of California Health and Safety Code § 19955(a). ECF No. 1. The summons 17 and complaint were timely served on defendants. ECF Nos. 4, 5. The clerk entered default as to 18 all defendants. ECF Nos. 7, 9. On March 31, 2020, plaintiff moved for default judgment. ECF 19 No. 11. The motion for default judgment was served on all defendants. ECF No. 11-7.
20 Defendants did not appear to oppose the motion, and have not otherwise appeared or taken any 21 action in this case.

22 II. Motion

23 Plaintiff moves for default judgment on his claims under the ADA and "related California 24 statutes" and seeks injunctive relief, statutory damages, attorneys' fees, litigation expenses, costs 25 and interest. ECF No. 11-1 at 1.

III. Analysis

A. Legal Standard

Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 55, default may be entered against a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought who fails to plead or otherwise defend against the action.

See Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). However, “[a] defendant’s default does not automatically entitle the plaintiff to a court-ordered judgment.” PepsiCo, Inc. v. California Sec. Cans, 238 F. Supp. 2d 1172, 1174 (C.D. Cal. 2002) (citing Draper v. Coombs, 792 F.2d 915, 924–25 (9th Cir. 1986)); see Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(b) (governing the entry of default judgments). Instead, the decision to grant or deny an application for default judgment lies within the district court’s sound discretion. Aldabe v. Aldabe, 616 F.2d 1089, 1092 (9th Cir. 1980). In making this determination, the court may consider the following factors:

(1) the possibility of prejudice to the plaintiff, (2) the merits of plaintiff's substantive claim, (3) the sufficiency of the complaint, (4) the sum of money at stake in the action, (5) the possibility of a dispute concerning material facts, (6) whether the default was due to excusable neglect, and (7) the strong policy underlying the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure favoring decisions on the merits.

Eitel v. McCool, 782 F.2d 1470, 1471–72 (9th Cir. 1986). Default judgments are ordinarily disfavored. Id. at 1472.

As a general rule, once default is entered, well-pleaded factual allegations in the operative complaint are taken as true, except for those allegations relating to damages. TeleVideo Sys., Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917–18 (9th Cir. 1987) (per curiam) (citing Geddes v. United Fin. Grp., 559 F.2d 557, 560 (9th Cir. 1977) (per curiam)); see also Fair Hous. of Marin v. Combs, 285 F.3d 899, 906 (9th Cir. 2002). Although well-pleaded allegations in the complaint are admitted by a defendant’s failure to respond, “necessary facts not contained in the pleadings, and claims which are legally insufficient, are not established by default.” Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of N. Am., 980 F.2d 1261, 1267 (9th Cir. 1992) (citing Danning v. Lavine, 572 F.2d 1386, 1388 (9th Cir. 1978)); accord DIRECTV, Inc. v. Hoa Huynh, 503 F.3d 847, 854 (9th Cir. 2007) (“[A] defendant is not held to admit facts that are not well-pleaded or to admit conclusions of law”) (citation and quotation marks omitted); Abney v. Alameida, 334 F. Supp. 2d 1221, 1235 (S.D.

1 Cal. 2004) (“[A] default judgment may not be entered on a legally insufficient claim.”).

2 B. The Eitel Factors

3 a. Factor One: Possibility of Prejudice to Plaintiff

4 The first Eitel factor considers whether the plaintiff would suffer prejudice if default 5 judgment is not entered, and such potential prejudice to the plaintiff weighs in favor of granting a 6 default judgment. See PepsiCo, Inc., 238 F. Supp. 2d at 1177. Here, plaintiff would suffer 7 prejudice if the court did not enter a default judgment. Absent entry of a default judgment, 8 plaintiff would be without recourse for recovery. Accordingly, the first Eitel factor favors the 9 entry of default judgment.

10 b. Factors Two and Three: Merits of Claims and Sufficiency of Complaint

11 The merits of plaintiff’s substantive claims and the sufficiency of the complaint are 12 considered here together because of the relatedness of the two inquiries. The court must consider 13 whether the allegations in the complaint are sufficient to state a claim that supports the relief 14 sought. See Danning, 572 F.2d at 1388; PepsiCo, Inc., 238 F. Supp. 2d at 1175. Here, the merits 15 of the claims and sufficiency of the complaint favor entry of default judgment.

16 Plaintiff brings three causes of action: violations of the American’s with Disabilities Act, 17 42 U.S.C. § 12101, et seq. (“ADA”), the Unruh Civil Rights Act, Cal. Civ. Code § 51-53 18 (“UCR”), and Cal. Health & Safety Code § 19955(a). The merits of each of these claims are 19 assessed below.

20 1. ADA Claim

21 “Title III of the ADA prohibits discrimination in public accommodations....” Kohler v.
22 Bed Bath & Beyond of California, LLC, 780 F.3d 1260, 1263 (9th Cir. 2015). The elements of a 23 Title III claim are: (1) plaintiff is disabled within the meaning of the ADA; (2) the defendant is a 24 private entity that owns, leases, or operates a place of public accommodation; and (3) the plaintiff
25 was discriminated against by the defendant because of plaintiff’s disability. 42 U.S.C. § 26 12182(a); Arizona ex rel. Goddard v. Harkins Amusement Enterprises, Inc., 603 F.3d 666, 670 27 (9th Cir. 2010). Discrimination, in this context, includes “a failure to remove architectural 28 ////

1 barriers ... in existing facilities ... where such removal is readily achievable.” 42 U.S.C. § 2 12182(b)(2)(A)(iv).

3 Plaintiff alleges multiple types of discrimination in this case, resulting from defendants’ 4 failure to provide adequate accessible parking spaces, and accessible counter space. First, 5 defendants failed to remove architectural barriers where such removal was readily achievable, in 6 violation of 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(2)(A)(iv). Second, defendants failed to design and construct a 7 facility accessible to individuals with disabilities, in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 12183(a)(1). Third, 8 defendants failed to make an altered facility accessible in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 12183(a)(2).
9 Fourth, defendants failed to make reasonable modifications in policies, practices, or procedures, 10 when such modifications are necessary to afford goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, 11 or accommodations to individuals with disabilities, unless the accommodation would work a 12 fundamental alteration of those services and facilities. 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(2)(A)(ii). Finally, 13 plaintiff failed to maintain accessible features.

14 The facts alleged in plaintiff’s complaint adequately detail the claimed violations, and 15 taken as true, support plaintiff’s ADA claim. ECF No. 1. The Americans with Disabilities Act 16 Accessibility Guidelines, found in the ADA’s implementing regulations at 28 C.F.R. Part 36 17 (“ADAAG”) has been held by the Ninth Circuit to provide the “objective contours of the standard 18 that architectural features must not impede disabled individuals’ full and equal enjoyment of 19 accommodations.” Chapman v. Pier 1 Imports (U.S.) Inc., 631 F.3d 939, 945 (9th Cir. 2011).
20 Plaintiff alleges there was only one accessible parking space in the parking lot, which was located 21 far from the building entrance and behind excessive slopes, making it difficult to navigate to the 22 building from the parking space. Id. at 2-3. Plaintiff alleges non-accessible parking spaces were 23 placed closer to the building entrance. Id.

24 Accordingly, plaintiff alleges defendants (1) failed to provide accessible parking located 25 on the shortest accessible route of travel to the Property entrance, pursuant to 1991 ADAAG § 26 4.6.2 and 2010 Standards § 208.3.1; and (2) failed to provide an accessible route from the 27 designated accessible to the Property entrance free of excessive slopes, pursuant to 1991 ADAAG 28 § 4.3.7 and 2010 Standards § 403.3. “Because the ADAAG establishes the technical standards

1 required for “full and equal enjoyment,” if a barrier violating these standards relates to a 2 plaintiff’s disability, it will impair the plaintiff’s full and equal access, which constitutes 3 “discrimination” under the ADA. Chapman, 631 F.3d at 947. Because plaintiff has alleged facts 4 demonstrating violations of the ADAAG that relate to his disability, he has properly alleged 5 violations of the ADA. The merits of plaintiff’s case thus favor entry of default judgment.

6 2. The Unruh Act

7 Under California’s Unruh Act, “[a] violation of the right of any individual under the 8 federal Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990...shall also constitute a violation of this section.” 9 Cal. Civ. Code § 51(f). In addition, the Unruh Act independently prohibits discrimination, if it is 10 done in contravention of Section 51. Cal. Civ. Code § 52(a). Section 52(a) provides for statutory 11 damages of no less than $4,000 for each violation, and attorney’s fees. Id.

12 Because plaintiff has shown that defendants are in violation of Title III of the ADA, 13 specifically, the failure to provide accessible parking, he has also shown that defendants are in 14 violation of the Unruh Civil Rights Act. Lentini v. California Ctr. for the Arts, Escondido, 370 15 F.3d 837, 847 (9th Cir. 2004) (“a violation of the ADA is, per se, a violation of the Unruh Act”).
16 Plaintiff is therefore entitled to a default judgment on this claim.

17 3. California Health and Safety Code § 19955(a)

18 Plaintiff’s complaint alleges a claim under Cal. Health & Safety Code § 19955(a), a 19 California law requiring public accommodations to guarantee access to physically handicapped 20 persons. ECF No. 1 at 1. This claim is not analyzed here because plaintiff did not properly move 21 for default judgment as to this claim. See Design Collection, Inc. v. Body Shop of Am, Inc., No.
22 CV 13-9000 FMO (SHX), 2014 WL 12616611, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 19, 2014) (a motion for 23 default judgment should include, inter alia, “the legal authority that sets out the elements of the 24 causes of action upon which plaintiff seeks default judgment”); See also, United States v. Graf, 25 610 F.3d 1148, 1166 (9th Cir. 2010) (“Arguments made in passing and not supported by citations 26 to the record or to case authority are generally deemed waived.”).

27 c. Factor Four: The Sum of Money at Stake in the Action

28 Under this Eitel factor, “the court must consider the amount of money at stake in relation

1 to the seriousness of Defendant's conduct." PepsiCo, Inc., 238 F. Supp. 2d at 1176-77. Plaintiff 2 seeks $4,000.00 in statutory damages, and $2,545.00 attorney's fees and costs. ECF No. 11-1 at 3 6-9. The complaint offers no information about the defendants' financial condition, so the court 4 cannot tell if this is a significant amount of money to defendants. However, there is no evidence 5 that defendants took any action after being served with the summons and complaint in order to 6 avoid a judgment of this size. This factor accordingly weighs in favor of a default judgment.

7 d. Factor Five: Possibility of Dispute Concerning Material Facts

8 The facts of this case are relatively straightforward, and plaintiff has provided the court 9 with well-pleaded allegations supporting its claims and affidavits in support of its allegations.
10 Here, the court may assume the truth of well-pleaded facts in the complaint (except as to 11 damages) following the clerk's entry of default and, thus, there is no likelihood that any genuine 12 issue of material fact exists. See, e.g., Elektra Entm't Grp. Inc. v. Crawford, 226 F.R.D. 388, 393 13 (C.D. Cal. 2005) ("Because all allegations in a well-pleaded complaint are taken as true after the 14 court clerk enters default judgment, there is no likelihood that any genuine issue of material fact 15 exists."); accord Philip Morris USA, Inc., 219 F.R.D. at 500; PepsiCo, Inc., 238 F. Supp. 2d at 16 1177.

17 e. Factor Six: Whether Default Was Due to Excusable Neglect

18 Upon review of the record before the court, there is no indication that the default was the 19 result of excusable neglect. See PepsiCo, Inc., 238 F. Supp. 2d at 1177. Plaintiff served the 20 defendants with the summons and complaint. ECF Nos. 4, 5. Moreover, plaintiff served 21 defendants by mail with notice of its application for default judgment. ECF No. 11-7. Despite 22 ample notice of this lawsuit and plaintiff's intention to seek a default judgment, defendants failed 23 to defend themselves in this action. Thus, the record supports a conclusion that the defendants 24 have chosen not to defend this action, and not that the default resulted from any excusable 25 neglect. Accordingly, this Eitel factor favors the entry of a default judgment.

26 f. Factor Seven: Policy Favoring Decisions on the Merits

27 "Cases should be decided upon their merits whenever reasonably possible." Eitel, 782 28 F.2d at 1472. However, district courts have concluded with regularity that this policy, standing

1 alone, is not dispositive, especially where a defendant fails to appear or defend itself in an action.
2 PepsiCo, Inc., 238 F. Supp. 2d at 1177; see also Craigslist, Inc. v. Naturemarket, Inc., 694 F.
3 Supp. 2d 1039, 1061 (N.D. Cal. 2010). Accordingly, although the court is cognizant of the policy 4 favoring decisions on the merits-and consistent with existing policy would prefer that this case be 5 resolved on the merits-that policy does not, by itself, preclude the entry of default judgment.

6 Upon consideration of the Eitel factors, the court concludes that plaintiff is entitled to the 7 entry of default judgment against defendants and makes a recommendation to that effect. What 8 remains is the determination of the amount of damages to which plaintiff is entitled.

9 C. Terms of Judgment

10 Plaintiff requests statutory damages and attorney's fees under Title III of the ADA and the 11 Unruh Civil Rights Act, along with injunctive relief.

12 1. Attorney's Fees

13 Attorney's fee awards are calculated using the "lodestar" method whereby the hours 14 reasonably spent in the litigation are multiplied by a reasonable hourly rate. Ferland v. Conrad 15 Credit Corp., 244 F.3d 1145, 1149 n.4 (9th Cir. 2001) (per curium). The hourly rate is generally 16 calculated "according to the prevailing market rates in the relevant community." Blum v.
17 Stenson, 465 U.S. 886, 895, 104 S. Ct. 1541, 79 L. Ed. 2d 891 (1984). It is also the general rule 18 that the court will use the rates of attorneys practicing in the forum district. Gates v. Deukmejian, 19 987 F.2d 1392, 1405 (9th Cir. 1992).

20 Plaintiff requests attorney fees at an hourly rate of $300 for 5.8 hours of work, plus 21 paralegal fees at an hourly rate of $115 for 7 hours of work, totaling $2,545.00. ECF No. 11-1 at 22 9. Plaintiff cites prior case law from this district using these rates specifically for herself and for 23 her experienced paralegals. Block v. Starbucks Corp., No. 1:15-cv-00991-DAD-CKD, 2018 WL
24 4352906, at *7 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 11, 2018); see also, Trujillo v. Singh, No. 1:16-cv-01640-LJO-25 EPG, 2017 WL 1831941, at *3 (E.D. Cal. May 8, 2017). Based on this case law and the 26 affidavits presented (ECF Nos. 11-2, 11-4, 11-5), the undersigned also finds these rates 27 reasonable.

28 ////

1 Plaintiff also seeks $981.59 in costs and litigation expenses. ECF No. 11-1 at 8-9.
2 Section 12205 of the ADA provides that a district court, “in its discretion, may allow the 3 prevailing party, other than the United States, a reasonable attorney’s fee, including litigation 4 expenses, and costs.” 42 U.S.C. § 12205. The statutory provisions of the ADA provide direct 5 authority for the award of expert witness fees as litigation expenses under the ADA. See Lovell 6 v. Chandler, 303 F.3d 1039, 1058 (9th Cir. 2002). The costs here include expenses for the court 7 filing fee, costs of service, and an expert witness investigator fee, which are compensable 8 pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 12205 and Lovell, 303 F.3d at 1058. ECF No. 12-4 at 2. Plaintiff’s 9 request for costs in the amount of $981.59 for litigation costs and expenses is appropriate.

10 Accordingly, the undersigned will recommend that plaintiff be awarded a total of 11 $2,545.00 in attorney’s fees and costs, along with $981.59 in filing fees and costs.

12 2. Statutory Damages

13 The Unruh Civil Rights Act provides for, among other things, a minimum statutory 14 damages amount of $4,000 per violation. Cal. Civ. Code § 52(a); Grove v. De La Cruz, 407 F.
15 Supp. 2d 1126, 1133 (C.D. Cal. 2005) (the Unruh Act “provides for statutory damages up to a 16 maximum of three times the actual damages but no less than $4,000 for each instance of 17 discrimination”). Plaintiff asserts that he is entitled to $4,000.00, in statutory damages pursuant 18 to the Cal. Civ. Code § 52(a). ECF No. 11-1 at 6. Plaintiff has sufficiently alleged facts 19 indicating that he visited the Property on one occasion and encountered barriers that interfered 20 with his ability to use and enjoy the goods, services, privileges, and accommodations offered each 21 time. ECF No. 1. Thus, plaintiff is entitled to $4,000 in statutory damages. Guedoir, 218 F.
22 Supp. 3d at 1103.

23 3. Injunctive Relief

24 Plaintiff’s complaint seeks an injunction requiring defendants to make changes and 25 accommodations at the subject facility in a manner that achieves compliance with federal and 26 state regulations. ECF No. 11-1 at 4. As the factual allegations in the complaint are taken as true, 27 plaintiff is entitled to injunctive relief as requested pursuant to both state and federal law. See 28 Wander v. Kaus, 304 F.3d 856, 858 (9th Cir. 2002) (“Damages are not recoverable under Title III

1 of the ADA—only injunctive relief is available for violations of Title III.”).

2 IV. Conclusion

3 For the reasons explained above, it is hereby RECOMMENDED THAT:

4 1. Plaintiff’s March 31, 2020 motion for default judgment (ECF No. 11) be GRANTED;

5 2. The court enter judgment against the defendants on the complaint’s claims in the 6 amount of $7,526.59 (comprising $4,000 in statutory damages and $ 2,545.00 in attorney’s fees 7 and $981.59 in costs);

8 3. Defendants make changes and accommodations at the subject at the Property located at 9 or about 700 Sereno Dr., Vallejo, California, 94589, in compliance with the Americans with 10 Disabilities Act Accessibility Guidelines.

11 4. This case be closed.

12 These findings and recommendations are submitted to the United States District Judge

13 assigned to the case, pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1). Within twenty-one days

14 after being served with these findings and recommendations, any party may file written 15 objections with the court and serve a copy on all parties. Id.; see also Local Rule 304(b). Such a 16 document should be captioned “Objections to Magistrate Judge’s Findings and 17 Recommendations.” Any response to the objections shall be filed with the court and served on all

18 parties within fourteen days after service of the objections. Local Rule 304(d). Failure to file 19 objections within the specified time may waive the right to appeal the District Court’s order.

20 Turner v. Duncan, 158 F.3d 449, 455 (9th Cir. 1998), as amended on denial of reh’g (Nov. 24, 21 1998); Martinez v. Ylst, 951 F.2d 1153, 1156-57 (9th Cir. 1991).
